Participation in a research study of Youth Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD)

The UW Department of Psychiatry is looking for 8-18 year olds who have anxiety related to traumatic stress to participate in a research study. Participation includes an MRI brain scan, an interview and questionnaires about health and mood.

Receive up to $250 for participation in 2 research sessions and follow-up surveys.

If you would like to directly contact the study coordinator for more information you can take this form with you and call (608) 265-3610 or email youthptsd@mailplus.wisc.edu.

I would like to be contacted by a study coordinator to learn more about this research study and to see if my child qualifies for participation.
